ABOUT KIWI 360

In 1904, a humble schoolteacher planted the first 'Chinese Gooseberry' seeds in our rich NZ soil. The vines and the industry flourished beyond all expectations. The kiwifruit is now one of our country's major exports and the story of its success is a real testament to kiwi ingenuity.

Kiwi360 nestles in a totally unique pocket of land. Here, specific climatic and geographical conditions combine in precisely the right order, at the right time, unlike anywhere else on the planet! Kiwifruit grown here is deservedly known as the very best in the world.

Kiwi360 is owned by a consortium of Maori kiwifruit orchard Trusts and individuals.

For centuries this land has been an abundant 'food bowl' for the Tauranga Moana (sea) Iwi (tribes).

Even today a significant proportion of the kiwifruit production is grown on the most productive lands belonging to the Tangata Whenua (original inhabitants - people of the land).
